Introducing HoneyButter Croissant

Flaky buttery layers
Golden honey glaze
Freshly baked every morning

A close-up photograph of a white ceramic coffee cup filled with dark coffee, sitting on a dark wooden surface. In the foreground, several golden-brown, flaky croissants are arranged on a striped paper napkin. To the right of the cup, there are several brown sugar cubes. The background is softly blurred, showing another croissant on a white plate. The overall scene is warm and inviting, typical of a cafe setting.
